BIG PARADE TO-NIGHT

Opening Ceremonies of the Great Carnival of Song.

Feared that President Cleveland Will Not Be Present.

Philadelphia Six Hundred Arrived This Morning.

All arrangements have been completed for the toreh-light parade of the Nation-

The only drawback is the doubt conserning President Cleveland's presence. He accepted the invitation conditionally. and General Manager Morrissey still has hope that he will be on hand, though Proprietor O. P. Breen, of the Victoria, where the Presidential party usually puts up, is equally as sure that he will not be here.

The parade will form on Second street and Second avenue, and will move up nd avenue to Fourteenth street, to Fourth avenue, to Twenty-sixth street, assing through the triumphal arch at Twenty-sixth street and Madison avenue, to Fifth avenue, to Fifty-first street, where it will disband. Gov. Flower, Mayor Gifroy and others will view it from the Victoria Hotel.

It is expected that 20,000 people will march. The parade will be headed by a squad of meunted police, followed by gentlemen riders from the various academies, dressed in Alpine costumes. The visiting societies will be excerted by the local organisation. There will be twenty bands of music.

One of the principal features of the parade will be the float of Music and Song, on which will be presented famcus heroes and heroines of Wagner's compositions. Twenty-sixth street and Madison ave compositions.

Handel will be represented by a mammoth organ, with living pictures of Germania and Liberty. At the base will be representatives of various countries, the proposition of with the musical instruments characteristic of their nationality.

The finishing touches to the triumphal such at Maclison avenue and Twenty-sixth street were put on this morning, and by nown thousands of people had sone out of their way to view the architectural beauties of the temporary structural structure.

The Maemerchor Society of Philadelphia arrived this morning over the Fennagylvania read. Col. Hain, of the Elevated road, had a special train for them at the Cortianit street station, which whirled them down to the Battery, where they were run on to the Third avenue tracks and taken to the Twenty-third street siation. They were well-third street siation. They were well-third street siation.

A DREAMLAND ALARM In Answering It Fireman Harris Fell Down the Pole Hole.

Somnambulistic Feat Which Ended in a Fractured Skull.

It Is Thought He Tried to Slide Down the Pole While Asleep.

George T. F. Harris, a fireman attached to Engine Company Nd. 8, in East Fifty-first street, fell through the pole hole at the engine-house at 2.15 fracture of the skull.

cept upon the theory of somnambulism. Harris is twenty-pight years old, steady and in good health. Like many of the firemen these hot nights, he slept in the back yard of the station instead of in back yard of the station instead of in his bed in the dormitory upstairs. At about 1.30 this morning an alarm called the ten firemen and two officers of No. 8 to their posts. Harris, who is the driver of the engine, ran in from the yard and jumped into his seat. As the fire was not in that district and no supplementary alarms came in, the horses were unlitched and the men re-turned to their beds.

horses were unhitched and the men returned to their beds.

Harris went back to his sleeping-place in the yard, but must have soon abadoned it and climbed the status to his bed. He was not observed, however, until the watchman at the front of the house heard the fall of a heavy object at the rear. He ran back and found Harris lying at the foot of the pole by which the men slide down to the first floor. The watchman called for help, and the whole force, thinking it a still alarm, ran down.

Harris was unconscious and bleeding from a cut in the back of the head. Inefectual efforts were made to get a neighboring doctor, and a Flower Hospital ambulance was then summoned. The young surgeon said that Harrie's skull was fractured at the base. The inpital ambulance was then summoned. The young surgeon said that Harris's skull was fractured at the base. The injured man was taken to the hospital.

Assistant Foreman Jones, of No. 8, told an "Evening World" reporter that he thought Harris must have been dreaming. Firemen's sleep is so broken up, and they are roused with such suddenness to violent activity from the deepest slumber, that they are subject to mental freaks in their sleep. Jones said that he had often awakened to find himself in his boots and trousers rushing to his post when there was no alarm whatever.

Harris evidently lay down upon his bed, as it was found disturbed, and probably dreamed of an alarm, and, trying to answer it, fell through the hole. He was partly dressed when found.

The report at the hospital is that he

The report at the hospital is that he seriously but not fatally injured.

MET A HORRIBLE DEATH.

Carlin Party, Is Settled.

(By Associated Press.)
MISSOULA, Mon., June 21.—The expedition which left Missoula May 21 in search of the body of George Colgate, the cook of the Carlin party, abandoned the cook of the Carlin party, abandoned by that party last Fall in the Big Clearwater country, one of the widest forests in the Northwest, has just returned. The body of Colgate was not found, but sufficient evidence was discovered to justify the conclusion that he died a horrible death. On the limb of the tree which projected into the eddy of the middle fork of Clearwater River was found one sleeve caught under a huge boulder. The indications were that the body was washed down stream about haif a mile from where the unfortunate men was abandoned, and was caught in the eddy.

A sleeve caught in a limb of a tree, and the current being intensely rapid, the arm was torn from the body and re-mained there.

Wright cut Dent across the abdomen.
Friends interfered and Wright went across the street and was followed by Dent, who, bleeding from a chastly wound, plunged a pitchfork into Wright's breast and broke the fork to pleces over his head. Both men will die.
